Welcome to Your Lead Magnet Template Pack

Inside this pack you will find five professionally written, conversion-tested lead magnet templates designed specifically for mindset and performance coaches. Each template is ready to customise and deploy immediately.

These templates are designed to create powerful self-awareness moments, demonstrate the tangible impact of mindset work, and position you as a high-performance guide -- not a vague motivational figure.

Replace [YOUR NAME], [YOUR BUSINESS], and all bracketed placeholders with your own details.

TEMPLATE 1: The Performance Mindset Assessment -- 10-Point Checklist

--- BEGIN TEMPLATE ---

THE PERFORMANCE MINDSET ASSESSMENT

10 Signs Your Mindset Is Holding You Back

By [YOUR NAME], Mindset & Performance Coach | [YOUR BUSINESS]

Instructions: Check each statement that is TRUE for you. This is not about positivity -- it is about honest self-assessment.

1. I set ambitious goals and genuinely believe I will achieve them. My self-belief is not blind optimism -- it is based on my track record of following through on commitments I make to myself.
2. I embrace discomfort as a growth signal rather than a threat. When I feel anxious about a challenge, I interpret it as excitement and move toward it rather than away from it.
3. I recover from setbacks quickly. When something does not work out, I extract the lesson within 24-48 hours and redirect my energy toward the next action, rather than dwelling on what went wrong.
4. I have a consistent daily routine that primes my mental state. I do not leave my mindset to chance -- I have specific practices (journaling, visualisation, meditation, movement) that I do regardless of how I feel.
5. I manage my inner critic effectively. When the negative voice appears, I recognise it as a pattern rather than truth, and I have specific tools to redirect my thinking.
6. I take decisive action even when I do not have complete information. I understand that imperfect action beats perfect inaction, and I correct course as I go rather than waiting for certainty.
7. I surround myself with people who elevate my standards. My inner circle challenges me, holds me accountable, and operates at a level that pulls me forward rather than keeps me comfortable.
8. I can maintain focus on my priorities for extended periods without distraction. I have systems to protect my attention and I do not get pulled into other people's urgencies at the expense of my own goals.
9. I regularly do things that scare me. At least once per month, I deliberately put myself in a situation that stretches my comfort zone -- whether professional, social, or personal.
10. I sleep well, manage stress proactively, and maintain physical energy as a foundation for mental performance. I understand that mindset without energy is just philosophy.

YOUR SCORE:

8-10 Checked: High-performance mindset. You already operate above most people's ceiling. A mindset coach can help you access the next gear and sustain peak performance without burnout.

5-7 Checked: Strong foundation with hidden limiters. You perform well but there are specific patterns holding you back from your full potential. Targeted coaching can unlock these within 60-90 days.

2-4 Checked: Your mindset is your biggest bottleneck. You have talent and ability, but your thinking patterns are keeping you playing small. This is the most transformative place to start coaching.

0-1 Checked: Your inner world needs a complete reset. This is not a weakness -- it is an opportunity. The distance between where you are and where you could be is enormous, and it starts with your mindset.

TEMPLATE 2: 5 Mental Blocks Keeping You From Your Potential -- Mini-Guide

--- BEGIN TEMPLATE ---

5 INVISIBLE MENTAL BLOCKS KEEPING HIGH ACHIEVERS FROM THEIR FULL POTENTIAL

By [YOUR NAME], Mindset & Performance Coach

You are not underperforming because you lack talent, intelligence, or work ethic. You are underperforming because your mindset contains invisible programs that cap your output. These five blocks are the most common ones I see in ambitious, capable people.

BLOCK 1: Perfectionism Disguised as High Standards

You tell yourself you have high standards. In reality, you have a fear of being judged for imperfect work. So you over-prepare, over-edit, over-research, and over-think. You miss deadlines, delay launches, and exhaust yourself refining things that were already good enough.

Perfectionism is not about quality. It is about control. It is the belief that if you can just make something perfect, you will be safe from criticism. But perfection is unattainable, so you are chasing safety that does not exist.

The Fix: Set a 'good enough' threshold before you start any task. Define what 80% looks like and commit to shipping at that level. Practice releasing imperfect work deliberately. Notice that the consequences are almost never as bad as your mind predicted.

BLOCK 2: The Achievement Trap (Never Enough)

You achieve a goal and within hours you are already focused on the next one. You never pause to feel the satisfaction of what you accomplished. There is always a bigger target, a higher bar, another level.

This is not ambition. This is a nervous system that equates rest with danger. Somewhere you learned that your value is tied to your output, and stopping means risking worthlessness.

The Fix: Create a 'wins' practice. Every evening, write down 3 things you accomplished or appreciated that day. When you hit a milestone, schedule a minimum 24-hour celebration before moving to the next goal. Teach your brain that you can pause and still be valuable.

BLOCK 3: Imposter Syndrome at Every New Level

You got the promotion. You landed the client. You built the business. Yet part of you is waiting to be 'found out.' You attribute your success to luck, timing, or hard work rather than genuine competence.

Imposter syndrome grows with success because each new level brings a new group of peers who seem more qualified. But here is the truth: everyone at that level feels the same way. The difference between those who thrive and those who shrink is not the absence of doubt -- it is the willingness to act despite it.

The Fix: Keep an evidence file. Every compliment, achievement, result, and piece of positive feedback goes in one document. When imposter thoughts arise, review the evidence. Your brain cannot argue with data. Also: stop comparing your inside to other people's outside.

BLOCK 4: Fear of Visibility and Judgement

You have ideas, opinions, and expertise worth sharing. But you hold back. You do not post the content, pitch the idea, or speak up in the room. Because what if people criticise you? What if you are wrong? What if they think you are arrogant?

Invisibility feels safe but it is expensive. Every opportunity you did not pursue because you feared judgement is a compound cost that grows over time.

The Fix: Start small and build tolerance. Post one genuine opinion on LinkedIn this week. Share one idea in a meeting. Give one piece of feedback you have been withholding. Notice that the world does not end. Gradually increase your exposure. Confidence is built through evidence, not affirmation.

BLOCK 5: Burnout Wearing the Mask of Productivity

You work 60-hour weeks and wear it as a badge of honour. You feel guilty resting. You equate busyness with purpose and exhaustion with dedication. Your body is sending signals (poor sleep, low mood, chronic fatigue, brain fog) but you push through.

This is not high performance. This is self-destruction with a productivity label. True peak performers protect their recovery as aggressively as they protect their work time.

The Fix: Schedule recovery as non-negotiable calendar events. 7-8 hours sleep. Daily mindfulness practice. Weekly activity that has nothing to do with achievement. One day per week completely off. These are not rewards for hard work. They are the prerequisites for sustainable high performance.

THE PEAK PERFORMANCE PLANNER

Design Your High-Performance Quarter

By [YOUR NAME] | [YOUR BUSINESS]

PART 1: IDENTITY CHECK

Your performance is limited by who you believe you are. Before setting goals, get clear on the identity you are building.

The person I am becoming: _____

One word that defines my operating standard: _____

What would the best version of me do today? _____

PART 2: THE BIG 3 (90-Day Goals)

Choose exactly 3 goals for the next 90 days. Not 5. Not 10. Three.

Goal 1: _____

Why this matters beyond the surface: _____

The identity belief this requires: _____

My weekly actions: _____

Goal 2: _____

Why this matters beyond the surface: _____

The identity belief this requires: _____

My weekly actions: _____

Goal 3: _____
Why this matters beyond the surface: _____
The identity belief this requires: _____
My weekly actions: _____

PART 3: OBSTACLE MAPPING

For each goal, identify the likely internal block:

Goal 1 -- The thought that will try to stop me: _____
My reframe: _____

Goal 2 -- The thought that will try to stop me: _____
My reframe: _____

Goal 3 -- The thought that will try to stop me: _____
My reframe: _____

PART 4: DAILY PERFORMANCE PROTOCOL

Morning prime (my first 30 minutes): _____
My focus hours (when I do my hardest work): ____am to ____am
Midday reset ritual: _____
Evening shutdown ritual: _____
Non-negotiable sleep time: ____pm

PART 5: ACCOUNTABILITY AND MEASUREMENT

I will review progress every: _____
My accountability partner or coach: _____
My reward at 90 days: _____
If I fall off track, my recovery protocol is: _____

TEMPLATE 4: The Mental Toughness Cheat Sheet -- Quick Reference Card

--- BEGIN TEMPLATE ---

MENTAL TOUGHNESS CHEAT SHEET

In-the-Moment Techniques for Peak Performance

By [YOUR NAME] | [YOUR WEBSITE]

WHEN YOU FEEL ANXIOUS (Pre-Meeting, Pre-Presentation, Pre-Event):

- Box breathing: Inhale 4 seconds, hold 4, exhale 4, hold 4 (repeat 5 times)
- Power pose: stand tall, shoulders back, chin up for 2 minutes (shifts cortisol and testosterone)
- Reframe: 'I am not anxious, I am activated. This energy is fuel.'
- Visualise success: close your eyes, run through the ideal outcome in vivid detail (30 seconds)

WHEN YOU FEEL OVERWHELMED:

- Brain dump: write everything on your mind on paper (2 minutes, no filtering)
- Identify the ONE next action (not the 50 things, just the one)
- 10-10-10 rule: will this matter in 10 minutes? 10 months? 10 years?
- Reduce the scope: what is the minimum viable version of this task?

WHEN YOU FEEL UNMOTIVATED:

- 5-minute rule: commit to just 5 minutes of the task. Motivation follows action, not the reverse.
- Connect to your WHY: why did you start this? What is at stake if you stop?
- Change your physiology: cold water on face, 20 pushups, a brisk 5-minute walk
- Environment design: remove temptations, set up your workspace for the task

WHEN YOU FACE A SETBACK:

- Give yourself 24 hours to feel it (do not suppress, but set a time limit)
- Write the lesson: 'What specifically went wrong? What will I do differently?'
- Reframe: 'This happened FOR me, not TO me. What is the hidden gift?'
- Take one action toward recovery within 24 hours (momentum is medicine)

WHEN IMPOSTER SYNDROME APPEARS:

- Remember: if you feel like a fraud, it means you are growing. Comfort zones do not trigger imposter feelings.
- Check the evidence: list 5 genuine achievements that prove your competence
- Ask: 'Would I say this to a friend in my position?' (Apply the same compassion to yourself)
- Accept the feeling and act anyway. Courage is not the absence of fear.

WHEN YOU NEED TO MAKE A HARD DECISION:

- Coin flip test: flip a coin, and notice your gut reaction to the result (that is your answer)
- 10-10-10: how will you feel about this decision in 10 minutes, 10 months, 10 years?
- Regret minimisation: which option will you regret NOT taking?
- Ask: 'What would the person I am becoming choose?'

DAILY NON-NEGOTIABLES FOR MENTAL PERFORMANCE:

- 7-8 hours of sleep (non-negotiable foundation)
- 15 minutes of intentional mindset work (journaling, visualisation, meditation)

- Physical movement (even 20 minutes changes your brain chemistry)
- One challenge or discomfort embraced deliberately
- Evening reflection: what went well, what I will improve tomorrow

GRAND TOTAL: ____/125

100-125: Elite Mindset. You operate at a very high level. Coaching can help you sustain this and reach the next tier.

75-99: Strong Performer. Excellent base with specific limiters holding you back. Coaching can unlock your next 20-30% of capacity.

50-74: Untapped Potential. You have significant capability that your mindset is not allowing you to express. This is the sweet spot for transformation.

25-49: Mindset Overhaul Needed. Your thinking patterns are your biggest bottleneck. Addressing them will change every area of your life.

How to Use These Templates

Deploy these templates to attract ambitious, growth-oriented clients.

1. Customise for Your Audience: Adjust language and examples to match your specific clientele (entrepreneurs, athletes, corporate leaders, creatives). Replace generic scenarios with ones that resonate with your niche. Add your credentials and relevant experience.

2. Choose Your Platforms: The mental toughness cheat sheet works as a shareable Instagram graphic or printed handout. The 5 Mental Blocks guide is perfect as a LinkedIn article, podcast episode, or YouTube video. The scorecard converts best as an interactive quiz. The performance planner works as a workshop tool or PDF workbook.
3. Lead with Identity: Mindset coaching prospects respond to identity-based messaging. Headlines like 'Are You Performing at 60% of Your Capacity?' or 'The Invisible Blocks Keeping High Achievers Stuck' outperform generic self-help language.
4. Drive Traffic: Podcast appearances are the #1 traffic driver for mindset coaches. Instagram Reels with quick mindset tips. LinkedIn for reaching corporate professionals. YouTube for in-depth performance content. Speaking engagements (virtual and in-person) at high-performer events.
5. Nurture with Depth: Mindset coaching prospects value depth over hype. Your email sequence should include genuine psychological insights, not motivational quotes. Share frameworks, explain the science behind your methods, and let prospects experience your coaching style through your content.
6. Convert Through Transformation: Offer a genuine breakthrough experience in your free session, not just a sales pitch. If they experience a real shift in 30 minutes, they will invest in more. Record client testimonials that describe specific internal shifts and external results.

PRO TIPS FOR MINDSET COACHES:

- The mental toughness cheat sheet gets screenshotted and saved more than any other format. Make it visually compelling.
- Avoid overly 'woo' language unless your audience specifically responds to it. Most high performers want evidence-based approaches.
- Client video testimonials describing specific breakthroughs are your most powerful marketing tool.
- Corporate clients (performance coaching for teams) are your highest-revenue segment. Use the scorecard as a team assessment tool to open that door.
- Differentiate from motivational speakers: you provide structured, measurable transformation, not temporary inspiration.
